

CLUBS INDORSE UNION BUILDING

Almost All Schools Already
Fully Organized for Memorial Campaign.

One hundred per cent organization for the Missouri Memorial Union Building campaign, opening March 28, was reported by practically every school and college in the University when the Central Committee met yesterday afternoon to discuss plans for the best method of conducting the campaign in the different schools. Every school except the School of Medicine had representatives present who reported on the progress made thus far in organization.

Each school has a chairman with a certain number of men under him, all of whom constitute the Central Committee.

Each chairman plans so to organize his school that the solicitation of the entire student body, after the campaign is launched, will be a simple matter.

An idea of how far-reaching the effects of the advertising among the alumni have been given by Odon Guitart, Jr., campaign director, who told of the enthusiasm aroused among former Missouri students in New York City.

The following hearty endorsements of the Memorial movement by the Ag Club and the Marine Club were read by Edwin A. Mayes, chairman of the indorsement committee:

"Whereas, the campaign for the Student Memorial Building is an attempt to perpetuate the glorious sacrifices of the University of Missouri men who gave their lives in the Great War, and,

"Whereas, the Marine Club is an organization of men who were more fortunate than some of their comrades in the United States Marine Corps and those who fought with them,

"Be it resolved, that the Marine Club go on record as heartily indorsing the Student Memorial Building Campaign.

"Moss Guit, 'Skipper' of Marine Club, 'C. A. Foot, Executive Officer.

"W. W. Hays, Captain of Rifle Team."

"Whereas, we are more fortunate than our brothers who were called upon to make the supreme sacrifice that we might enjoy the liberties of a free country without the shadow of an overpowering monarchy to darken our horizon;

"Whereas, we believe that the least we can do in their memory can never repay them or their relatives for the great sacrifice which they have made;

"Whereas, we believe in a greater and better University for Missouri and in the fostering of the spirit of democracy for which these, our fallen brothers, gave their lives;

"Be it therefore resolved, that we unanimously indorse the erection of the Missouri Memorial Union Building in honor of those of our fellow students who gave their lives that we might live.

"The Ag Club.

"Edwin Mayes, President.

"Robert H. Bawell, Secretary."

The next regular meeting of the Central Committee will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock when it is expected that the organization of every school in the University will be completed.

PLAN AGRICULTURAL PAPER

May Re-establish the College Farmer as Official Organ.

The College Farmer may be re-established as the official student paper of the College of Agriculture if the report made by a committee last night at the Ag Club meeting, receives the club's indorsement. The matter will be voted on next Wednesday night, and if carried, officers for the paper will be elected.

The College Farmer was published for several years by the students of the college of Agriculture but was discontinued in the spring of 1918.

Why the University of Missouri Must Have A Memorial Union Building

Thousands of the University's sons and daughters served in the recent war. Fifty-two gave their lives in the struggle against Prussianism. To memory of their deeds must be kept alive. Other institutions are planning or have their Memorials—final tribute must be paid to Missouri's heroes.

Our Memorial should be of the same service to mankind as they were. A building which will serve daily the entire University, the alumni and students, can best stand as a Memorial to Missouri's heroes. Such a desirable structure is found in the Missouri Memorial Union Building.

Not a Matter for the Legislature

Pride demands that the alumni, faculty and students of the University pay this homage to those who sacrificed most for them. Therefore, the funds for the Memorial must be raised among this body and cannot be appropriated by the Legislature.

Taking the view that the Union Building is a student club-house, the Legislature would be slow in appropriating the required sum for its construction. Besides, in almost every instance, funds for Union buildings elsewhere have been raised through the student body, alumni and friends. Missouri should do likewise.

Practical Value of the Building

Missouri needs a center for its activities outside the classroom—a home where the 170 organizations of the school can meet. A common meeting place where personality may be developed and where students may branch out beyond their particular school or department and become acquainted with the men and women of the University.

Most of the large schools of the East and Middle West have their Union buildings. Even Kansas University went over the top in its initial drive for a Stadium-Union with over two hundred thousand dollars. Without a Union Building, Missouri will be handicapped. We may be strong in most things, but our social side will be neglected. Then what will we say? What will they say?

Board of Curators Behind the Campaign

Ground for the Building has already been set aside on the East Campus at Hill and Lowry Streets, by the Board of Curators. The design is such as to harmonize well with the buildings on this campus. The site is approximately the center of the grounds of our greater University, and it tends to group the women's buildings on one section of the campus.

All funds will be handled by the Board of Curators who will hold them in trust. Leslie Cowan, secretary of the University is treasurer of the Memorial campaign fund.

Beat Kansas

Kansas says with their Stadium-Union they will "Own the Valley." It is up to Missouri to show by concerted effort that she can "beat Kansas" at any game, any time. Get behind the project for a
